Abstract:

Since 2014, the method-specific psychotherapeutic training in "Individual Psychology" can be studied within the framework of an advanced study Master program as a cooperation of the Austrian Association of Individual Psychology (ÖVIP) with the University of Vienna and the "Vienna Circle for Psychoanalysis and Self Psychology" (WKPS). The conception of the program will be presented and related to earlier forms of training. The consequences that psychoanalytic training in a university context has on both the students and the training institute will be discussed as well as its benefits and challenges.
